H.M. Pharma Consultancy's Integrated Approach to Strategic Patenting

At H.M. Pharma Consultancy, we believe that nobody knows your invention better than you, and that the technical side of patenting is in excellent hands with your patent attorney of choice. We also believe that we can offer you very significant added value by working with all involved parties – inventors, management, and patent attorneys.

The reason? We have seen too often that, while those concerned with corporate patenting at its various levels all give their very best input into IP projects, their backgrounds, and as a consequence, their perspectives are so diverse that not "speaking a common language" is an impediment – although that might not even be apparent. As a result, your company might fail to realize the full potential of its IP.

This is where H.M. Pharma Consultancy can assist you. We treat all information sources as equal, providing complete integration.
